UNITS REQUIRING REFRIGERANT EVACUATION

Per unit evacuation fee for Household units Household units are household refrigerators, household freezers and small household AC units containing less than 5 pounds of refrigerant. If the unit is in question, it will be evaluated by HPC EPA certified staff and a determination will be made by HPC staff. Units must be free and clear of debris/food & taped/tied shut where applicable.	$27.90
Per Window Hotel/Motel sized AC Unit for evacuation Hotel/Motel window AC units are approximately 3-4 feet in length x 1.5 feet high x 1.5 feet in height and fit in windows only. If the unit is in question, it will be evaluated by HPC EPA certified staff and a determination will be made by HPC staff.	$63.00
Per Unit Evacuation Fee for Commercial units Units are evaluated by HPC EPA certified staff. Cost is based off of type and amount of refrigerant in unit. Units must be free and clear of debris/food & taped/tied shut where applicable. Other options may be available. Please ask Landfill staff for a listing of HVAC contractors.	$89.50 / < 5 lbs $125.00 / > 5 lbs
If you have a unit evacuated elsewhere (not at the Landfill), you must submit an Appliance disposal form if you intend on disposing of the unit for metal recycling at the Landfill. • White Goods/Appliance fees are still applicable when an Appliance disposal form is submitted to Landfill staff. • If an Appliance disposal form is not submitted to Landfill staff with the "evacuated unit", additional charges will apply.
