Low Water Landscape Rebate Information and Application

Background information:

Landscape irrigation accounts for the largest use of water in Flagstaff during summer months. By replacing a lawn with low-water use, native, and drought tolerant plants, our summer water demand can be significantly reduced. Water efficient landscapes can be full of color and variety, are better for local wildlife and pollinators, and help absorb storm water runoff during monsoon season.

Available rebate:

Eligible properties may earn $0.25 per square foot of grass converted to low water (ideally) native plants.

Process (for more details www.flagstaff.az.gov/lowwaterlandscape):

1. Before removing your grass, please contact the Water Conservation Program at 928-213-2116 to schedule a preliminary site inspection by our staff. This preliminary inspection is necessary to confirm the square footage of eligible grass on your property.
2. Schedule a visit with the Arboretum at Flagstaff for a free site assessment and plant recommendations based on your specific property or reference the neighborhood map for customized recommendations for plants that will thrive in your soil and climate conditions.
3. Provide the Water Conservation Program with site plan (to-scale), and a water calculator spreadsheet, demonstrating lower outdoor water use. This plan should include which plants you intend to utilize, and how much water they require during the establishment and post-establishment phases. Fifty percent of new plants need to be low-to-moderate water use and/or native. Twenty percent of ground cover may be rock-scaped.
4. Remove your grass and replace it with the low-water use plants you have selected.
5. Contact the Water Conservation for final inspection of your site, along with copies of your receipts for plants and labor (if included).
